May the peace and joy of the holiday season be with you now and throughout the coming year! As our family grows and we grow closer to one another through the shared bond of our love for the boys, I encourage you to spread the word about all the great things happening here at Young Leaders Academy! This is a time of praise, joyous celebration and fellowship, so please remember the spirit of love, hope and faithfulness in our dealings with each other. Communication, commitment and collaboration are the keys to our continued success.

I encourage you to pay close attention to your son's attendance, behavior and participation, as his attitude and willingness to participate reflects his and your continued commitment to success and to the YLA. Remember together we can do so much more than we could ever do alone.
